

MEDIA HIGHLIGHT
Friday, January 31st, 2020

EDUCATION

TEP Centre conducts DAI NSF Baseline Assessment in Borno State

The Education Partnership (TEP) Centre conducted the DAI NSF baseline assessment of four schools in Kaga and Konduga Local Government Areas of Borno state. The assessment was conducted using the quantitative method of a survey to provide statistical data on measurable indicators, and qualitative methods of observation and document review to collect more nuanced and contextual data.

SEED launches digital school transformation platform

To improve Nigeria's education system, Sustainable Education and Enterprise Development (SEED) has announced the launch of a digital platform powered by Sophia ERP for a groundbreaking school transformation programme. According to the Executive Director

Guardian

Review of Nigeria's university curriculum in final stage –NUC

The National Universities Commission (NUC), is in the final stage of a draft review of Nigeria's university curriculum, according to the Executive Secretary of the commission, Prof. Abubakar Rasheed. Rasheed, speaking at a high-level interactive dialogue commemorating this year's International Day of Education at the United Nations Headquarters...TheNationOnline

BUSINESS

Africa's economy to rise to 3.9% in 2020–AfDB

The African Development Bank (AfDB) African has projected economic growth to rise from 3.4 per cent in 2019 to 3.9 per cent in 2020 and 4.1 per cent in 2021. The AfDB President, Dr Akinwumi Adesina

Vanguard

OTHERS

What You Need To Know About Aquagenic Urticaria (Allergy To Water)

Aquagenic urticaria is a rare form of urticaria, a type of hives that causes a rash to appear after you touch water. This urticaria (hives) develop rapidly after the skin comes in contact with water, regardless of its temperature. It most commonly affects women and symptoms often start around the onset of puberty.

...Guardian